

A105 Summary of Consultation

Overall support

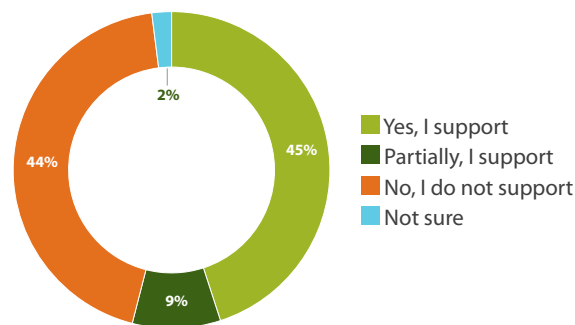

From 17th July to 9th October 2015 people were asked to share their feedback about the plans for the A105. One of the key questions we asked was whether they supported the overall plans for the A105 Cycle Enfield scheme. 1,646 people told us what they thought:

Support for A105 Cycle Enfield Scheme

The majority of people who had their say lived directly on, or very near to, the proposed route (NB the full report will provide more details). Out of the total who responded, 1,386 had an Enfield postcode.

Support for the A105 Cycle Enfield Scheme (Enfield Residents)

Key highlights

- Many welcomed improvements to make cycling safer along Green Lanes
- Many thought that the scheme would encourage more people to cycle
- Better air quality and improving the health and wellbeing of the community were seen as significant benefits
- Many wanted reassurances that the final designs will reflect the needs of local businesses, particularly in maintaining deliveries and provision for customer parking
- Concerns were raised about any possible congestion and traffic diverting down alternative routes
- The needs of everyone, especially the elderly, disabled and those with young children, have to be fully considered

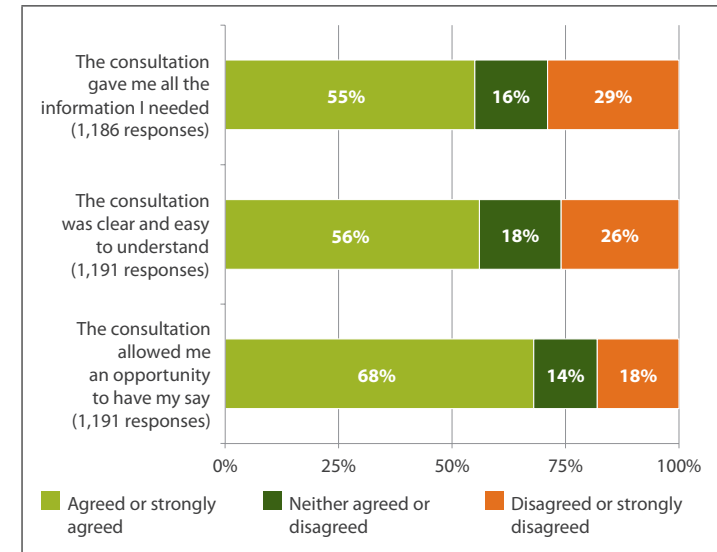

How did we tell people about the consultation?

We used a variety of means to tell people about the consultation process including:

- Sending over 14,000 letters to homes and businesses along the route, and a further 60,000 leaflets to homes in the surrounding area
- Hosting a 3-day exhibition at The Fox Pub in Palmers Green
- Displaying posters in the high street, on buses and in public buildings
- Secured 64 notices to lampposts along the entire route

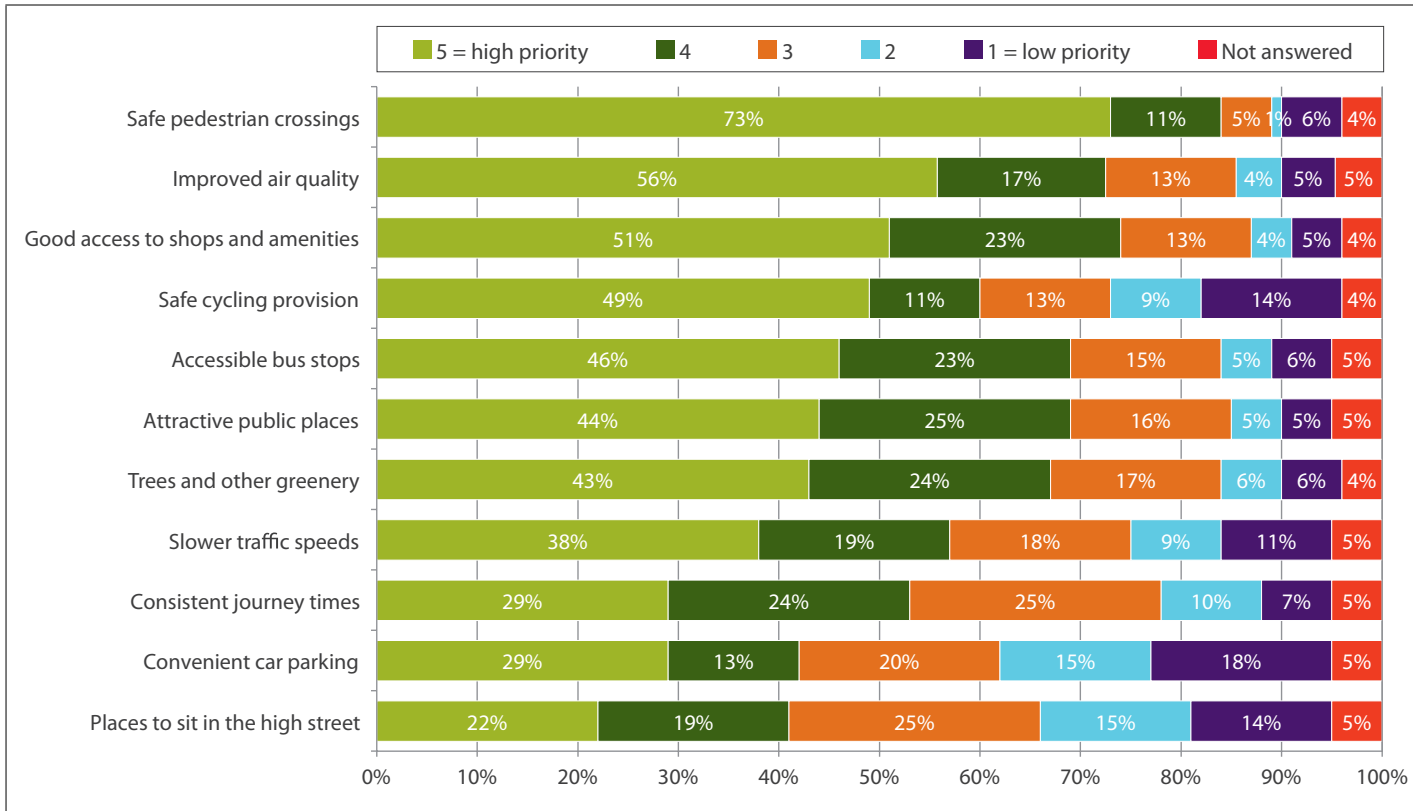

- Advertising in local papers and community magazines
- Presenting draft designs at the Palmers Green Festival and Enfield Town Show
- Attending ward forums and visiting local venues, such as the Ruth Winston Centre

What people thought of the consultation

What would you like from the scheme?

We asked you to tell us what you thought was important when we were considering the scheme:

What happens next?

We are listening and the feedback we have received will help to shape the design of the final scheme. These changes will be shared in the concluding report.

The report will include key information, such as economic and air quality assessments and comments received outside of the formal consultation process.
